Sheriff's Arrest,

The following arrests were made to-day on Grand Jury indictments for violation of the liquor law: Jacob Crone, 15 cases, Benjamin Archibald, 3; Maria Archibald, 3, and Lawrence Rowland, 3. Bail was given in the sum of $100 in each case.

The Morning Prayer Meeting. The prayer meeting this morning in the reading room of the Y. M.C. A. was largely attended and the services, which were ed by the Rev. Mr. Mason, of the Fourth Bresbyterian Church, were characterized by a deep spiritual feeling and were very interesting. The pastors of the city were represented in the persons of Rev. Dr. Gillett, Rev. Dr. Withrow, Rev. Dr. Bayliss, Rev. Charles Raymond and Rev. Mr. Mason. The ladies were also represented. The library case and the partition back of it will be removed to-day, and if this does not give room enough, the meeting will be taken up stairs to the main hall. Dr. Bayliss will conduct the meeting in the morning. The services will be continued from eight until nine o'clock. The ladies are especially invited to the meetings, and it is also hoped that there will be a larger

Our Spanish Complications-What War Means-Etc.

Washington, November 18 .- The first flurry of the Cuban excitement appears to be over here, and the grave consequences of is admitted by all public men here that the moment hostilities should be determined upon, it would be necessary to largely increase taxation, and the effect upon the national finances would be of the most depressing character. At the Treasury it is maintained that, even if military movements should begin with the absolute certainty that they would continue but a few months, still the expenditures which would become necessary to simply inaugurate a show of hostilities, would go far toward wiping out the reduction of the debt for the last year.

Four out of the five artillery regiments of the regular army are ascertained to be in timely contiguity to the Atlantic Coast. The cavalry is all in the Territories, Pacific States and Texas, and only three of our infantry regiments are immediately available for Cu-ban service. Both the Secretaries of War and of the Nrvy speak more hopefully of our condition in the event of war than the General and the Admiral. Senator Sherman, Chairman of the Finance Committee, expresses the opinion that all schemes of inflation coming up from the House will be stopped in the Senate. The prominent champions of inflation are Butler, Kelley and Parson Brownlow. Most of the old and prominent members of the House of Representatives discountenance inflation.

The Secretary of the Treasury said yester-day that he had been advised that Senator Sumner had fully recovered his health, walked without a cane, and appeared as robust as ever. He intended coming to Washington this winter, and would take an active part in all measures before Congress affecting the Republican party.

[Special to the Cincinnati Commercial.] The fact that Admiral Porter and General Sherman speak without enthusiasm on the ossibilities of an invasion of Cuba leads to the criticism that comfortable quarters for several years in Washington have not been favorable to the growth of enterprise in these distinguished commanders. Admiral Porter, in particular, has been lauding the condition of our navy, and his own services in its behalf, since he received his promotion, but he is now much discouraged, and says freely that Spain is our superior at sea, and manifests unusual solicitude, for a sailor, in international law, and the necessity of being scrupulous about disturbing neutrality, etc. General Sherman also refers to the depleted condition of the egular army (Special to Cincinnati Gazette.)

While our authorities have no formal answer from Spain to the demands made in connection with the Virginius, it has ingrave than had been expected. From the first there has been no doubt entertained but that the Castelar government would co-operate in a friendly and energetic manner in righting whatever wrong has been done us in

Information, to-day, however, leads to a fear that feeling is running so high in Spain as to compel the government to act very coolly toward the United States in order to maintain itself, and that it will even be obliged to declare war against us the moment our government makes a move toward interour government makes a move toward inter-fering in any shape in Cuban affairs. The inti-mation received is that in spite of the friendly feelings of Castelar he will not be able to make such a response to the demands of the Inited States as is expected here, or as he he would like to make. On our own part, the matter seems to have progressed too far for modification, and so altogether the situa-tion is regarded to-night by our authorities as extremely grave,

MASSACHUSETTS. Senator Sumner on the Virginius Affair. Boston, Nov. 18.—Senator Sumner, in an interview in regard to the Virginius affair. said he had written and sent to New York letter to be read at the meeting there last night, which, however, was not read. This letter embodied his views on the subject. It is a very delicate question. Mr. Sumner hinted, and opinions should be carefully and calmly formed. The haste and heat of popular clamor he did not think calculated generate sound and sober views. "I suppose," he remarked, "I shall be attacked for what I have written. unless they suppress that letter. They have contrived to get up a vast deal of excitement on this question There is a heedless popular indignation which overlooks the real issue. Give the people a little time to cool off and they will listen to calmer views." As to the legal aspects of the case, Mr. Sumner said they appeared to his own mind very clear. The fact that the vessel went under the United States flag does not necessarily compromise our honor. If she was a filibuster the flag and the papers were only a part of the pretense. It would be foolish, however, he remarked, to make the case of the Virginius a plea for the recognition of Cuba. It would be cruel, too, to precipitate a war with Spain unless we were really driven to it. We must save the Spanish republic, it possible under the United States flag does not neces if possible.

About 9 o'clock Friday morning, the hearse, followed by one carriage, drove to the cottage where she died. The coffin was borne to the hearse by the undertaker and his men. Her two neices and two friends entered the waiting carriage, which followed the hearse to the little Catholic church.

A Democratic Opinion of Organs.

(Laporte Argus.) We do not see that the party is suffering for a State organ. They usually are nothing but the mouth piece of a central ring of scalpers at best, and the fewer such organs the party has the better it is off.

[George William Curtis.] RICHMOND, November 18.—The machinists and blacksmiths of this city have suffered a reduction of wages fifty cents a day.

ANDERSON, November 18.—The First National Bank of this city has suspended.

In a conversation the President yesterday, declared that he anticipated a peaceful solu-tion of the Cuban difficulty, but that the Government would be thoroughly prepared for any emergency. Spain never having con-sidered the Island of Cuba in a state of war, and there being no proclamation by the Uni-ted States according belligerent rights to the insurgents, the Virginius, if regularly clear-ed for the Island of Cuba, had a right to enter Havana, or any other open port of the Spanish possessions. Colonel Clarence Prentice, last surviving son of George D. Prentice, died near Louis-ville, on Saturday night, from injuries re-ceived by being thrown from his carriage. He was returning to his home about 11 o'clock, with his little son, George D. Prentice, when in turning into the lane leading to the house the carriage was upset, and Mr. Prentice and his son were both thrown out. The boy was unburt, but Mr. Prentice fell on his stomach, causing a rupture of the blood vessels leading to the heart, which resulted in his death in a few minutes. Mr. Prentice was a man of ability and learning, having graduated in law and medicine, traveled over every part of the United States and resided for a time in Europe. He had a great love of music and played several instruments. He fought in the late war on the wrong side, and since the restoration of peace, has resided in Meade county until within a few weeks, when he removed to his farm five miles from Louisville. He would have been thirty-three years old on the 24th of this month. CONCERNING A WAR.

It is well, perhaps, that the glorious bird of freedom should be permitted occasionally to flap its wings and raise the shriff scream with which it is supposed to defy "the universal airth." It is well, perhaps, that the mythical Uncle Sam should perambulate with long flowing coat tails cut to a peak and trailing on the ground, and invite the nations to "just step on that." It is probably a good thing for the people to indulge in a little self-glorification, to express the contempt for foreigners which is inborn in the Anglo-Saxon soul; to do an unlimited amount of freedom-shrieking, and to revive, in all its brilliancy of flapdoodle and all its demonstrativeness of sentiment and all lts antipathy to common sense, the fourth of July oratory, which the image-breakers fondly hoped was dead and buried. It is a good thing for the accumulated wrath of the people to blow off once in a while, and as long as it must the Spanish matter as anything else. It is a curious, as well as a solemn fact that paying it, execution or no execution. And about two-fifth of the reading public have such a fury that nothing but blood will

LOOK AT HOME.

An old adage says "one had better look at home before looking out of the window." There is always a condensation of practical, homely wisdom in these old savings, for if there wasn't the common sense of the world would contradict and kill them. We of Indianapolis need to "look at home" with especial attention, and we, of The News, have done what we could to enforce that inspection. Yesterday evening we urged the importance of selecting our Council from men well known for business capacity and honor, because there is security-though not a complete security -against incompetence and venality in such a reputation. A mam who has conducted his own affairs for years successfully and to the enhancement of his good repute, is unlikely to be seduced by any sort of bribery or improper influence. And there is no such certainty with men like a majority of the present Council, who are known to nobody but their wives and the family in the next house. They may be as honest as Aristides, but who can be sure of it? There is always, with such men, reasonable room for apprehension that an "envelope with something in it," will be well placed, and a proposition to gold ring," will not be so promptly repelled as Harry Craft did it. Mr. Craft is a well known business man, an old city official, well tried. Setting aside his own contempt for a bribe, he knew that his hard-won credit would die like a morning glory in ous rejoinder to so mean a proposal. For sooner or later it would come out. But how stands it with Reagan the "scape-goat" of the Canal ordinance? He had no reputation to protect, for, except among his family they have double force. Irish friends, nobody knew him from "Pickle Pigniggin." And he is down as flat as a lump of dough under a saw log. Take the case of his colleague, Shepherd, as he makes it himself. We leave Mr. Davis's testimony out of view wholly. Shepherd says that Davis got judgment against him on a disputed commission for a city purchase, but he "beat the execu-'tion, because he had nothing." Now it don't follow that a man who is law proof may not be honest, and may not be sensible, but it does follow pretty tightly that if have some safety-valve, it might as well be he boasts of it he is a fool, and if the debt was a just one he is a scoundrel for not if it is not just, how comes it to be unjust? within a tew days lashed themselves into Let Mr. Shepherd speak for himself. He bought, as a member of the Council Committee, certain gas fixtures of Mr. Davis for the City Hall, and got some for himself at the same time. When he asked Mr. Davis for his individual bill, he was told that "he owed nothing," and he then asked a receipt, but does not say he got it. Some time after he was dunned by Mr. nothing, but would pay it some time, and was sued as stated. Now, Mr. Shepherd, by his own oath, took a bribe after the sersays he did till Davis acquitted it, he knew

Caleb Cushing on the Legal Question-What Casey Thinks.

Hon. Caleb Cushing, in the course of a conversation on Sunday, was asked what, in his opinion, were the legal aspects of the case of the Virginius. He replied that the question was one capable of an easy answer, say-"Turn to your statute book and you find that the third section of the act of July 27, 1868, 'An act concerning the rights of American citizens in foreign States,' prescribes the duty of the President in cases in-fringing upon such rights. In fact, you would suppose that the act had been passed now presented.

Here the statute book was produced, and the section referred to by Mr. Cushing was read. It is as follows:

"Whenever it shall be made known to the President that any citizen of the United States has been unjustly deprived of his liberty by or under the authority of any foreign sovernment, it shall be the duty of the Pres-ident to forthwith demand of that government the reason for such imprisonment. And, if it appears to be wrongful and in vio lation of the rights of American citizenship the President shall forthwith demand the release of such citizen. And if the release, so demanded, is unreasonably delayed or re-fused, it shall be the duty of the President to use such means, not amounting to acts of war, as he may think necessary and proper to obtain or effectuate such release; and all the facts and proceedings relative thereto shall, as soon as possible, be communicated by the President to Congress

Mr. Cushing then remarked that this act very clearly defined the course to be pursued by the Prensident in the premises, and he entertained no doubt but everything relating to the subject would be laid before Congress on ts assembling.

Pursuing the subject, Mr. Cushing said there were three very important points to be settled before any steps could be taken by the government of the United States. First, the question of the flag; second, the location of the vessel when captured; third, her misuse of the flag, is another matter. But the nationality of a vessel is governed by her papers, which must correspond with her flag, but neither the flag nor the papers are to be accepted as conclusive evidence of her nationality, as the admiralty courts frequently go back of both in adjudicating prize cases, Respecting the location of the vessel when captured, this point is one not difficult to be dealt with. During the late rebellion the privateer Florida, lying quietly at anchor in a Brazillian harbor, was cut out by a vessel of the United States and forcibly conveyed to the waters of the United States. This was an undoubted violation of the sovereignty of Brazil, a friendly power. The of the United States admitted this fact, and sent a vessel to Brazil to salute the flag of that nation in a formal apology. The officer in command of the offending vessel was suspended. After the expiration of a comparatively brief period, he was reinstated upon the active list and promoted. In the case now presented, however, the question is complicated with the execution of the officers, crew and passengers of the vessel seized. Admitting that the vessel was captured on the high seas, while sailing under the American flag, with American papers, and in every respect as to forms in compliance with maritime usages, the character of her mission might after all determine the question as to the legality of her seizure. The blockade runners were her seizure. The blockade runners were British vessels, and when captured in making undoubted attempts to enter ports blockaded by the naval forces of the United States, the vessels were recognized as legal prizes, and no action whatever was taken by the govern-ment of Great Britain.

The Alabama and kindred privateers bore a disputed character as to nationality, yet it was not disputed that they were fitted out in violation of the spirit and letter of international obligations. The final settlement of tional obligations. The final settlement of the Alabama controversy exhibited proof that this vessel, although flying the flag of the so-called Confederate Government, was in reality a British ship unlawfully depreda-

Although the President is reticent on the Cuban question Casey is not, but is disposed to give correspondents the full benefit of his ideas, and as he is Grant's brother-in-law his views are supposed to be a reflection of the President's sentiments.

Casey says that General Longstreet has for a year past been organizing a pioneer expedition in New Orleans for an advance upon Cuba, at the moment the Government would be embroiled, which he has all along anticipated. This expedition enrolls ten thousand men. The shortest time ever made steaming from New Orleans to Havana is forty-three hours. The average time is from sixty to eighty hours. Havana, he says, can be starved out. Eight dollars a head is the duty upon the importation of Texas cattle to the island, and $110 per head for horses, for which the entire cavalry reliance of the island is dependent upon the United States

Mr. Casey says that every member of the Cabinet is stiff for maintaining the whole dignity of the country, including Mr. Fish whom he regards as conservative not only on this question, but on all. The President, he says, is particularly earnest, but got such a scarring from Mr. Sumner on account of the decisive measures of one of our ships-of-war, off the coast of Hayti, that he is too conside rate to adopt warlike measures before Congress meets, in the small lapse of only a fortnight. The Confederate element, says Mr. Casey, has been sensationalized in view of a conflict for Cuba, which shall avenge the fate of Lopez and Crittenden. There are some iron-clads at New Orleans, but he can not speak as to their condition.

The French element in Louisiana has hated the Spanish ever since the wanton execu-tions of the leading French colonists by O'Reilly, who built the Moro Castle at Havana, and sailing to take possession of Lou-isiana after its cession to Spain, set the prec-edent for the Virginius massacre by shooting the noblest creoles for merely protesting against their surrender to Spain without their consent. Casey says that the American war shaps, if inferior to the Spanish, have superior officers and artillerists, and that the distance between Cuba and Spain that the distance between Cuba and Spain, and Spanish contentions at home, besides the exhaustion of the Spanish military levies by the Cuban insurrection, would give us a unmerical supremacy in land forces such as unmerical supremacy in tand forces such as the English had when they captured Hayana by siege in the last century. Pensacola Navy Yard would be our natural base of op-erations. The President has considered all these questions, and sees that the only prob-lem is to neutralize the Spanish navy, for the Cubans not only throughout the island, but even in Havana, so greatly exceeded both the Spanish military forces and volunteers that an insurrection would spring up simultaneously with our naval interference, and the Spanish fleet, unable to get coal or provisions, would be starved out, like the Spanish garrison.

the so-called Confederate Government, was in reality a British ship unlawfully depredating on American commerce. The same questions arise, and must be determined as to the true character of the Virginius. If it should be shown that the Virginius was engaged in the prosecution of enterprises hostile to Spain—a nation with whom we are at peace—the fact that she carried the Americad flag might not be sufficient to protect her.

Congress has defined (by the act above the control of the Cabenard Spanish garrison.

Mr. Casey says that no member of the Cabinet wants to see Cuba possessed by us, but that commercial relations with Cuba are demanded, and also a more equal consideration at the Spanish customs, which shall place us on an equality with the English, who have not been annoyed in any way, while America.

The Panic.

To the Editor of The Evening News: What can be done to arrest its progress and restore the nation's vanishing prosperity? Our financial condition in the future, would seem entirely too dark were we to doubt that anything could be done to accomplish these results. As good money can be made in Indianapolis as anywhere. Money can be made here that will supply the demands of local trade as well as Gov ernment paper. A bank can be organized here whose bills would be as acceptable as national paper. A great increase of government paper, or any considerable in-crease of it, implies depreciation. Such a result would be as disastrous as the panic itself. The people ought not to depend entirely on the government for money, nor The annual report of the Grand Scribe, B. should the government claim a monopoly F. Foster, shows an increase in resources and of the money-making business. Money receipts, as well as membership, since the May communication of the Grand Encampment. But two delinquent lodges are co-operate with the government by established.

prevent the formation of irresponsible banking companies. If the leading capi-talists of every State will establish a bank at their State capitol, they can stop the panic and the suspension of factories, and the payment of sixty dollars a year for the use of a hundred dollars, which men are now offering to pay in Indianapolis. Which State will have its free bank in operation first? The country needs more money. The government can not supply it without depreciation of the national cur-rency. Free banking must do what the government can not do, and Congress should repeal the law prohibiting it the first day of its next session. As a com-mencement of the anti-panic movement, suggest a convention of the capitalists of Indiana at the State capitol, to take the subject under consideration. The panic is a bad thing for everybody, except the few money brokers who are making their sixty per cent. per annum out of it.

This Company was organized for the purpose of importing and distributing Teas and Coffees for one small profit; and it was started with a capital amply sufficient (half a million dollars) to carry into effect, in a thorough and complete manner, our well-matured plans. Added to this large capital, we have many years' experience in importing, buying, testing, and selling Teas to all sections of sine country. And as we have business connections with all the principal ports in China and Japan, thus receiving our goods direct from place of growth, our customers are saved from all intermediate profits.

All our Teas are selected with reference to our trade, and graded to established standards, so that all orders can be duplicated as often as desired, with the certainty that the same flavors and qualities will be sent, and at the lowest prices at which the goods can be imported and sold.

We conduct our business upon the true commercial principles of One PRICE—ONE SMALL PROFIT—and buy and sell for Cash Only.

We think our Thea-Nectar is the best Tea in the market for general use, and at the reduced price it certainly is the cheapest. Tea-Nectar is a pure Black Tea, with the Green Tea Flavor. Wherever it has been introduced it gives the fullest satisfaction.

Economy is now the order of the day, but it is not economy to do without a daily paper. It may offer chances for employment or money making, to lose sight of which might cause distress and injury. Every man and woman needs to keep thoroughly acquainted with the current news, both local and general, and there is no friend and helper and educator like the newspapers. A man had better go without one meal a week than without his paper, and there is no use of his dispensing with it on the score of economy while the price of The News is only ten cents a week. It gives a complete and concise resume of all the events of the day, covering in a condensed form the whole field to which larger papers devote more space, Take it, read it and advertise in it. and you will be benefited.

THE INVESTIGATION

A Number of Councilman Put Through Their Paces-Astonishing Innocence and Ignorance—Reagan Trying to Play

Another session of the Council Investigating Committee was held this forenoon, and a limited number of witnesses exam-ined. Mr. Vandegrift, of the I. C. and L., was recalled concerning the mental condition of Mr. Reagan, at the time of the pro posed sale of his vote, and he gave it as his opinion that the "dressing-gown" Councilman had been drinking at the time; but the witness still affirmed that his letter to Mr. Ingalls was based upon the result of that conversation with him.

regained his equilibrium, stated that he conversed with Mr. Reagan on Saturday, and that he told witness that he felt "pretty funny" on the day of the interview with Mr. Vandegrift, and if he said anything to which Mr. V. testified, it was all in jest. He also admitted to Mr. Peck that he had been "approached." canal ordinance he was told by Mr. Shepcanal ordinance he was told by Mr. Shepherd that there "was a dog in the well;" was not, however, posted as to the nature mentioned building. The owner objected of the purp. Had also been told that the to payment because of this bad drainage ties to work for the ordinance.

Vandegrift again took the stand, and in her favor. said he paid some one, unknown, $17 50, for 3½ days work in circulating a petition; and considered that legitimate.

Councilman Reagan had only to say in as Vandegrift alleges might have occurred, but he didn't remember it.

Samuel B. Corbaley didn't know any thing except general hearsay. On the day of the passage of the pork house ordinance had seen Pressley and Hardesty on their way to a "closeting" with Landers. There were rumors that the pork men used plenty of money, but he knew nothing defi-

Conncimen Pressly and Hardesty, both in same breath, vigorously denied the funeral, and affirmed under oath that they never met Landers in his office on that specific day, or any other. C. N. Lee, ex-Superintendent of the Water Works, testified positively to the contrary, and that he personally saw the three "elected" together. Pressly and Hardesty brought up Councilman Darnell to prove their innocence, and the matter was finally dropped by general consent

Kennington, the illiterate, then "explained" very nicely the $500 switch ordinance affair with AcDonough. McD., offered to pay for time spent in getting it through, but "I didn't want no The witness had also bought one car load of coal, five loads of which had been delivered, and had called several times to pay for it, but could get no settle ment from the clerks.

Robert Connelly, Esq., taken in the aggregate, was the most innocent witness the committee has yet alighted upon. He did once ask General Macauley who was the musical merchandise for sale, best party to see in order to defeat the coal ordinance, but he never intimated that money was to be used, never heard of a fund being raised, and knew of no collusion or improper influence which caused that ordinance to be killed,

That Sewer Again. That musty old ordinance, providing for the building of the Washington street sewer from Pogues Run on the east, to Ken tucky avenue on the west, which has been lying upon the files for months, was called up last night on its second reading. A roughly estimated cost is given at $102,700 After some little discussion, in which i was stated that a contractor of responsibility was willing to undertake the work and take city bonds with 20 years to run in recompense. The document in conjunction with another of like purport was referred to the Sewerage Committee for revision and favorable report. There is now a strong possibility that this work will be undertaken during the present winter.

How the Governor Feels.

The Human Locomotive should be carefully engineered, otherwise it may run off the track of life at any moment. To keep its delicate internal machinery in perfect trim, or to put it in good working condition when out of order, is the peculiar province of Tarrant's Efforcescent Seltzer Aperient. The thoroughness with which it cleanses, without irritating the bowels, the tone and vigor which it imparts to the stomach; its appetizing effects; its cooling, refreshing operation in fever; the relief it affords in headache; its anti-bilious properties, and its superior merits as a general corrective instity its superior merits as a general corrective, justify the assertion that it is, beyond all-comparison, the most valuable family medicing of the age. Sold by all druggists.
